Dope Addict Aided In Pacific Battles

By CHARLES FINSTON

Special to Boston Evening American

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Sept. 27—Com. Fitzhugh Green, noted author and explorer, took narcotics while he was No. 1 South Pacific Area Naval Intelligence officer during the critical battle of Guadalcanal, federal agents say his wife admitted to them. Green arranged to obtain the drugs surreptitiously from a ship's doctor whose acquaintance he cultivated en route to the New Zealand headquarters of Adm. Robert L. Ghormley in 1942, according to her story.

This sensational disclosure climaxed pleas of not guilty filed by Green and his wife, Mrs. Margery Durant Green, to a federal indictment charging purchase of illicit narcotic drugs. Federal agents said both have admitted that they are addicts.

Mrs. Green, 60, is the daughter of the late motor king, William C. Durant, who organized some

Com. Fitzhugh Green, Institute For Living in Hartford, Ct.

Fred P. Deisler, New York private detective, pleaded guilty to selling narcotics illegally. It is alleged he supplied narcotics to the Greens.

In Washington, Adm. Ghormley, under whom Commander Green served in the South Pacific for a brief period, voiced amazement at the author's plight, declaring:

"This is awful. I never dreamed that Fitz was subject to dope. I leaned heavily on him before our naval forces went into the Guadalcanal battle."

"He was my No. 1 Intelligence officer. His job was to correlate all information we got about the enemy. He had an excellent record and was under my close observation for one month. There was no indication of his using narcotics during his naval service."

Adm. Ghormley said that Green was stationed at his Auckland (New Zealand) headquarters and that he had known the defendant for many years. He continued:

"I was aware later that he had a serious heart ailment and that he was honorably retired. He was a grand fellow. I'm sorry to hear about this."

Navy Dept. records showed that Green was ordered to active duty in April, 1942, when he sailed for the South Pacific. He was retired from active service in February, 1943 as "not physically qualified."

But, Green's alleged addiction

Snakebitten Girl Flees Doctors

HARLAN, Ky., Sept. 27 (AP)—Twelve-year-old Faye Nolan, bitten by a poisonous snake during religious services, is now a fugitive from the advice of doctors.

The child's mother, Mrs. Roscoe Nolan, said that since the girl was bitten she had received advice from all sections of the country and that the child had been taken from home to an undisclosed place to keep doctors from "bothering her."

Mrs. Nolan said her daughter had almost recovered from the "serpent's bite" and was in no danger of losing her hand.

Dr. S. L. Anderson, Harlan County health officer, said the girl might lose her hand even if she recovered.

Arabs, Jews Skeptical Over Britain Quitting Palestine

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Arabs, Jews and some Britons greeted with skepticism today Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones' statement before the United Nations yesterday that Britain was willing to surrender her Palestine mandate and ready to withdraw her troops from the Holy Land.

British press comment generalists expressed hope that the trials expressed hope that the British stand might mean eventual peace for Palestine. In the Holy Land itself, however, the statement got a suspicious reception.

One British official in Jerusalem jokingly offered to bet you five quid (five pounds or $20) we are still here five years from now.

Emile Khoury, member of the Arab Higher Executive in Palestine, described the statement:

"Strangely like that by Mr. Creech Jones at our London conference when he told us British would take responsibility for a solution only if it was agreed to by Arabs and Jews. This will make our friends the Jews very happy since it tells them they can be even more radical in their demands, knowing if the Jews are displeased, Britain will stick by them."

"We, of course, welcome the 'solemn announcement' about the termination of the mandate and withdrawal of troops. But we wish we could be sure of the honesty of this solemnity, particularly in view of Britain's record in withdrawing from Egypt."

Britain's position on Palestine was set forth in a 1000-word statement before the UN Assembly's Special Palestine Committee, in which the British said they must plan for complete withdrawal of British troops and administrative personnel from Palestine.

T. R. Lurie, assistant editor of the Palestine Post, Zionist English language daily in Jerusalem commented:

"It seems that if Britain wanted to be helpful, it could have pledged itself to help in implementing some United Nations solution without conditioning its help on a Jew-Arab agreement. We know beforehand there will never be a Jew-Arab agreement."

Dr. Hussein El Khalidi, secretary of the Arab Higher Executive, said six Arab states which signed the UN charter would take over the military burden and maintain law and order until a representative democratic government is set up in Palestine.

Khalidi named the states as Egypt, Syria, Lebanon, Iraq and Saudi Arabia, now UN members, and Yemen, to be admitted at the current Assembly session.

David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive declined to make a general comment on the British statement until he had read it in full.

He termed meaningless, however, a paragraph which said the British would make an early withdrawal—without setting a definite time limit—if no satisfactory solution on Palestine is found.

Pepper Death Mother Held for Manslaughter

MEREDITH, N. H., Sept. 27—Judge Ripley Ropes ordered Mrs. Evelyn Cote, 24, of Center Harbor, held in $1000 bail for the October term of Superior Court on a manslaughter charge.

She pleaded innocent through counsel. Earlier, she allegedly admitted administering a fatal dose of black pepper to her 3-year-old son as punishment. He died of asphyxiation.

1 Jew Killed As British Board Vessel

JERUSALEM, Sept. 27 (AP)—One Jew was killed and nine others were injured today when British sailors boarded a refugee ship trying to crack the Palestine coastal blockade. It had approximately 450 persons aboard.

The Jew slain was shot by a British sailor who "had been surrounded by a party of Jews brandishing crowbars," a government spokesman said. Two other Jews were wounded by gunfire and a British sailor suffered a broken finger.

The ship, named Despite, was intercepted about dawn off the coast. She was the first to try to run the coastal blockade since the interception in July of the "Exodus 1947," whose 4300 vesselless passengers were ultimately returned to Germany.

Plans were being made in Haifa for shipping the Jews aboard the Despite to detention camps of Cyprus.

Officials said resistance was quelled after a 20-minute battle. The ship was a converted LCI (landing craft tank). It was believed the crew sought to beach her on Palestine shores.

The Palestine Government announced that British wives and families evacuated from Palestine for security reasons last February would be allowed to return within a few weeks.

Ask Public Aid In Identifying Mystery Girl

Identity of a blonde young woman, whose body was found in the Blue Hills, remained a mystery today as Dr. Russell Fisher, assistant State pathologist, reported that an autopsy showed no abnormal conditions or fractures.

Sole clue to the identification of the woman, who had been dead for a week to 10 days, according to Dr. Fisher, was a laundry mark—"Midele M217"—found on the skirt.

Vital organs of the victim, as well as a bottle containing some four cubic centimeters of a brown, odorless liquid, were sent to Dr. Joseph T. Walker, State Police chemist, for further analysis. The bottle was found in a paper bag beside the body.

Dr. Walker's chemical analysis of the organs and the liquid was not expected to be available before the first of next week.

The victim was described by Dr. Fisher as being in the early 30's, weighing about 135 pounds and 5 feet, 7 inches in height. She had dark, blonde hair and was dressed neatly in inexpensive clothing.

Lack of any clues excepting the laundry mark caused State Police to issue an appeal to the public to volunteer information concerning any woman of her description who might be missing.

The body was found on a large, flat rock on the slope of Great Blue Hill, some 200 yards off Summit Path leading to the weather observatory and at a point a half-mile from the base of the hill.

IDENTIFICATION FAILS

The path is traveled frequently by hiking parties at this season and the gruesome find was made by a family in search of autumn foliage, Robert S. Sherman of Landsdowne st., Squantum, and his wife and two children.

Despite the widespread publicity given the discovery, nobody has contacted authorities with worthwhile information about the victim's identity. One Roxbury man who thought it might be his missing wife was convinced the clothing worn was not hers.

All police departments in Greater Boston searched through missing persons files without coming upon any reported case in which the descriptions tallied with that of the victim.

The left arm was twisted under the body, the wrist resting under the small of the back. Capt. John D. McKinnon of the Metropolitan police said the twisted arm, presented one of the most puzzling aspects of the case.

The investigation was taken over by the State police, with Lt. William H. Delay from the office of Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing in charge and Metropolitan District police assisting.

The dead girl, police said, wore no rings nor other jewelry. Near her body was a handbag, of woven red and green straw, containing only nine cents, two pencils, a comb and a powder compact.

She wore a light blue polo shirt, tan and blue plaid skirt, brown sports wedgies, and a navy blue sweater. Her underclothing, which police said was not disarranged, included a white rayon slip, pink bra and panties.

Couple Saved, 40 Flee Fire, Blast in Roxbury Block

When a flash fire and explosion sent flames and smoke surging through a four-story apartment building in Warren st., Roxbury, early today, firemen rescued a married couple over ladders, assisted a score of other tenants to safety, while 20 patrons and employees of a ground floor cafe fled to the street.

Trapped in their apartment on the fourth floor and unable to make their way into the flame-swept hallway, Mr. and Mrs. James Gallant were overcome by smoke by the time firemen reached them.

They were taken out through a front window and carried over a ladder to the ground, where they were treated for smoke inhalation by a City Hospital doctor who arrived at the scene after the second alarm had been sounded.

Also standing by and ready to aid them was Fire Department Chaplain Henry J. O'Connell.

The fire started in the kitchen of the Atlantic Cafeteria occupying the entire first floor of the building.

Nick Primpes, 55, of Dover st., a counterman, said the place was being closed and he and others were preparing to leave when he discovered sparks coming from a motor which operated an oil pump for a stove.

He and others tried to put out the blaze, but it raced through the kitchen, driving them to the street. Just as they had left the building an explosion showered the kitchen with oil and the place was a blazing inferno when firemen arrived.

The flames roared up through the air shaft and into the rear of all apartments on the upper floors.

Screams of men and women trapped in the hallways of the building greeted the firemen on arrival.

Among those led to the street were Mrs. Bessie Fitzsimmons, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Audette, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bessing, Miss Ann Snyder, Miss Beatrice Hindle, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Brainer and Mr. and Mrs. Francis McLeod.

Hunt Seaman in Nantucket Air Kidnap of Daughter, 3

NANTUCKET, Sept. 27—Abduction of his 3-year-old daughter by a merchant seaman, who fled from the island by plane with the child, was charged today by Nantucket police.

Chief Lawrence F. Mooney said he had obtained a warrant today charging the seaman, Aubrey L. Owens, of Virginia, with kidnapping his daughter, Roberta Lee Owens, 3.

Owens, he said, had come to the island to visit his daughter and had taken a New England Central Airways plane for New Bedford with the child at 3 p. m. yesterday.

The child had been given in custody to her mother, Mrs. Heathie Owens of Lyons st., last January by Judge George M. Poland in Nantucket Probate Court when she sued for separate support and custody of the daughter.

Chief Mooney said investigation disclosed that Owens and the child had boarded the plane for New Bedford. His further destination was unknown but police learned that a man, answering his description, and a small girl had taken a bus for Providence.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Sept. 27 (AP)—The pretentious home of Lady Eunice Oakes, widow of the slain baronet, Sir Harry Oakes, was broken into early today and two valuable watches and bric-a-brac were taken, but were recovered when a man was arrested shortly afterward.

Chief George C. Abbott, of this exclusive resort's police department, said a man who identified himself as Charles F. Keefe, 23, of Lawrence st., Waltham, Mass., was taken into custody at Ellsworth, 18 miles away on the mainland.

Keefe, arraigned on charges of breaking and entering and larceny, pleaded guilty and was held in $3000 bail for the April term of the grand jury.

Lady Oakes was not at home. She was reported to be in Nassau, the Bahamas, where her wealthy husband was killed in July, 1943.

Girl Lives Month Hidden in Woods

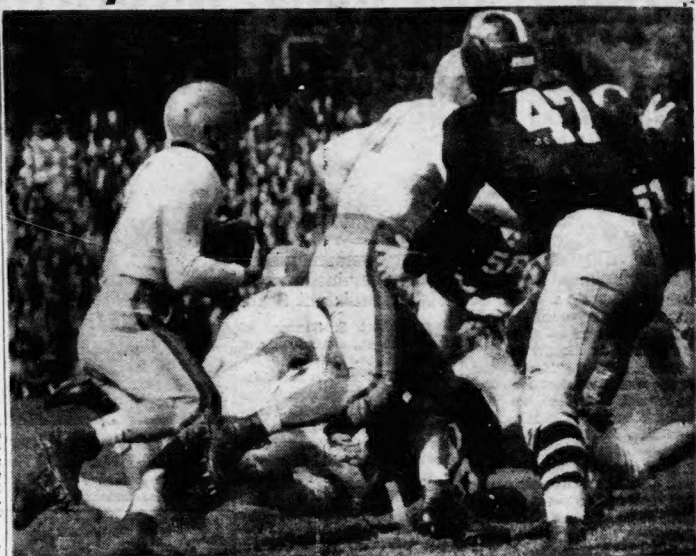

BEACON, N. Y., Sept. 27 (INS)—Yvonne Gascoigne, 28, daughter of a British diplomat, who disappeared from a Beacon, N. Y., sanitarium, was found tonight after 22 days in the woods, living on wild berries.

Miss Gascoigne, who ran away from the Craig House at Beacon on Sept. 4, appeared at the home of Anna Lewis at Dennison Point and asked for a cup of tea.

The tall blonde girl, a member of the British Wrens during the war, was almost nude, her clothing ripped by underbrush as she wandered through the woods. Mrs. Lewis did not recognize the girl, although the exclusive sanitarium is only three miles away and the entire area had been scoured by police.

Hannegan Quits, McGrath To Be New Party Chairman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Robert E. Hannegan will resign Oct. 29 as chairman of the Democratic National Committee and be succeeded by Sen. James Howard McGrath of Rhode Island.

Hannegan announced today he is resigning because of health and that President Truman "indicated his approval" of McGrath. Ratification of the President's choice by the National committee will be a formality. Hannegan remains as Postmaster General.

McGrath told reporters he will accept the Democratic chairmanship and expects to "proceed on theory that my task will be to re-elect President Truman."

McGrath, to retain his office as Senator to which he was elected last year, said he will not accept a salary as party chairman.

At a news conference in his Senate building office, McGrath said he considers the new job a "tremendous one with a lot of hard work which I will be happy to do to the best of my ability."

SULLIVAN QUILTS TOO

Hannegan also announced that Gael Sullivan, executive director and vice chairman of the committee, will resign on the same date, Oct. 29.

No reason was stated. McGrath said he had urged Sullivan to remain as executive director and had asked Hannegan to urge him to stay.

Sullivan, a former Postmaster General, has exercised full power as party chairman in Hannegan's absence.

Hannegan, who took over as chairman in January, 1944, explained that he is giving up the post on advice of his physicians. He said he had "accordingly suggested to the President" that McGrath take over if the committee agrees.

COMMITTEE MEETS OCT. 29

He called the committee to meet on Wednesday, Oct. 29 when his resignation will be effective.

McGrath expects to go to Europe Oct. 8 as a member of the judiciary subcommittee, studying displaced persons problems, but will return in time for the Oct. 29 meeting of the National committee.

The Senator declined to discuss prospective Republican nominees from the presidency.

"My responsibility is solely on the Democratic side, and I do not expect to offer the Republicans any advice," he said.

McGrath R. I. Party Head Since 1946

Sen. McGrath of Rhode Island, reportedly approved by President Truman as the next chairman of the Democratic national committee and 1948 campaign chief, has headed the party in his State since the wealthy Peter Gerry, its financial backer, stepped out in 1946 after running the show 24 years.

McGrath, who is only 43, entered politics two years after graduating from Boston University Law School in 1929 and was elected to the State House of Representatives in 1934.

Since his entrance in national politics he has become known as a close friend of Postmaster General Robert Hannegan, the resigned national committee chairman, and Atty. Gen. Tom Clark.

In 1930, McGrath was made city solicitor in Central Falls. Four years later he was made U. S. attorney for Rhode Island. In 1944 he battled for the governorship and piled up a plurality of 40,000 votes to oust the Republican incumbent, Gov. William H. Vanderbilt.

McGrath gave up the governorship in 1945, when President Truman appointed him solicitor general of the United States and made him one of the youngest chief executives in federal office.

The Rhode Island Senator has been a consistent vote-getter since he entered political life. Leading the Rhode Island ticket as a candidate to succeed himself in the Governor's chair for the 1944 elections, he rolled along to a 54,344 victory, the biggest margin Rhode Island ever gave a candidate for that office. He also ran ahead of President Roosevelt.

It was McGrath who seconded Truman's nomination for the vice-presidency at the Democratic national convention, and he has been considered "one of the family" ever since.

An articulate foe of Communism, the Rhode Islander defined his stand in the Senate last April when he declared there were more Reds in educational circles than in labor. He recommended that the cure for Communism was to make certain Democracy gave the people the housing, education and medical care which Communism promises—"but doesn't deliver."

U. S. senators have served as national committee chairman before. Sen. William M. Butler of Massachusetts headed the Republican national committee in the Calvin Coolidge era. Sen. Simon D. Fess of Ohio was campaign chairman when Herbert Hoover was in the White House.

Desire of a Niagara Falls ex-Army sergeant to see his 3-year-old son led to his arrest in Lynn today as an accessory before the fact of polygamy.

Both arrests resulted when Kirchew went to police with the complaint that Mrs. Wilber refused to let him see the son he claimed she had borne him.

Kirchew and Mrs. Wilber pleaded not guilty before Judge William E. Fay, and their cases were continued to Oct. 8 in bail of $500 and $2500, respectively.

Brunette Believed Converted Blonde Arrested as Gun Moll

A pretty young brunette believed to be the gun moll who took a leading role in the armed robbery of a South End loan shop was arrested at Camden and Washington sts., South End, today by a rookie patrolman who recognized her from a description de-already married and a father, she became indignant at first but later affirmed her affection for him.

Her share of the loan shop haul was $12, she said. Though she appeared neat and clean, she told police she had not been to her room in Massachusetts ave., South End, since Thursday night when the Stone loan office, Broadway, South End, was held up.

Her only other brush with the law, she said, came when she was 12 and was sent to reform school as a stubborn child. Her arrest today was made by Patrolman John X. Sullivan newly appointed officer attached to station 10.

Victims of the liquor store robberies were Benjamin Schmetzer, 63 Sumner pl., Roxbury, who was forced to give up $141, and Martin Golden, 55, Selden st., Mattapan, whose cash register was cleaned of $460.

Ex-Artillery Horse Relives Charge of Light Brigade

A veteran artillery steed, humbled by pulling a common wagon, relived his old glories for a few wild moments today when he answered what he thought was a call to charge and thundered madly down Dudley st., Roxbury.

Ambling leisurely along the cobblestones, the old warhorse was startled from a reverie by backfire from a passing horseless carriage. He bolted. The driver, Francis Connelly, 19, Wakullah st., Roxbury, was somersaulted from the wagon into the street.

At a point where traffic had stopped to permit passage of a street car, the warhorse spotted an enemy barricade—two cars side by side with barely clearance for the wagon.

In between the cars he raced—and devil take the hindmost! The hindmost was the wagon. Its wheels went over the fenders of the cars, the drivers taking cover behind steering wheels.

At Dudley st. and Harrison ave. the warhorse stopped, satisfied he had penetrated the enemy lines.

Casualties: Two somewhat damaged cars and one frightened driver, Mariette G. Arthur, Haskin st., Roxbury. The driver of the second car had hastily abandoned the battle area.

6 Secret Radio in Home Of Red Envoy to U. S.

By KENT HUNTER
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Existence of a secret short wave transmitter behind a secret panel in the home of R. Adm. Eugen Georgevich

"Go ahead, don't be afraid of my feelings—what am I doing wrong?"

is believed to have been in operation for six months. Actual discovery of the secret transmitter's hiding place behind the secret panel in Adm. Glinkov's home came through an accidental pressure on just the right spot in the wooden paneling of a room in the Russian admiral's home by a naval officer of another foreign power who was paying a social call, according to reliable information obtained by the Hearst newspapers.

The visiting naval officer leaned casually against one wooden section after another in the paneled room, as he conversed with the Russian admiral.

Eventually the visiting naval officer accidentally leaned against the proper spot, and the secret doors slid away to reveal the hidden transmitter.

NO ACTION TAKEN
The startling discovery occurred about 8:30 p. m. Wednesday night, Sept. 24.

Nothing has been done about it, though private maintenance of such a secret sending set is a violation of diplomatic protocol, at least.

What action may be taken in the near future is an unsolved riddle.

But the revelation of the event, following closely on the disclosure two days ago that Col. Sergei M. Kuznetsov, who was first secretary of the Russian embassy in Ottawa, Canada, during the period a Russian spy ring operated there during the early years of the war, is now serving as advisor to Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko at Lake Success, will stir deep interest in Washington.

KNOWN REDS TABBED
John Grierson, chairman of the Canadian Film Board during the war, was mentioned unfavorably in the report of the Canadian Royal Commission on the Canadian spy ring activities, has recently been named as propaganda director for the UN educational, scientific and cultural organization, though he was refused a visa to enter the U. S. only last February.

Capitol Hill knows that when Premier Mackenzie King of Canada visited President Truman shortly after the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt, a list of more than 400 names of men and women uncovered as Soviet agents during the Canadian spy investigation, but who had escaped to the U. S. before action could be taken against them, was transmitted to the White House.

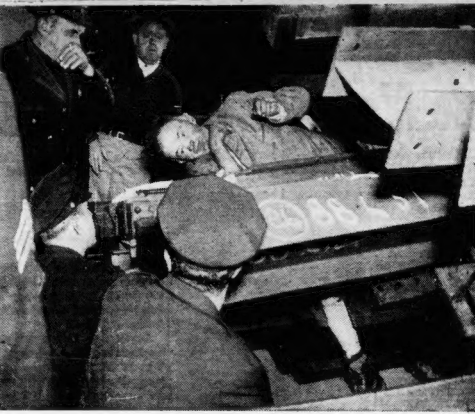

Trials during recent months of proved Communists on such charges as passport violations, linked with hearings before the un-American activities committee of the House, have focused American attention on the activities of Communists in America.

Ann Hewitt, Hubby Mrs. FDR Critical To Surrender Of Russians

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., Sept. 27 (INS)—Ann Cooper Hewitt, 33, and her radio announcer husband, Frank "Rodeo Roy" Nicholson, 41, were to surrender today in San Rafael on warrants charging them with conspiracy to violate California's premarital blood test law.

Their attorney said the couple, married 24 hours after Nicholson's previous wife died in an apparent suicide, would give themselves up at 9:30 a. m.

The warrants were issued by Police Judge Guy Chiozza who set bail at $1500. A similar warrant was issued for Nicholson's brother, Eugene, a San Francisco printer, after disclosing that the couple presented blood test certificates dated four days before Mrs. Gertrude Nicholson, 36, died in a San Francisco Hospital from an overdose of aspirin.

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt says it is impossible to understand why the Russians act as they do. She told a reporter that at times the difficulties of dealing with Soviet delegates to the United Nations appear almost insuperable.

"Try as you may, you cannot understand why they act as they do, even when you project your own position their nation occupies."

Mrs. Roosevelt, a United States delegate to the UN, added:

"The Russians appear to be waiting for another depression here to create pools of unemployed people who might be tempted to Communism. But do they think what the consequences to the world would be if the Western Hemisphere was in such chaos it could no longer export food?"

The record high retail price of 22 cents a quart was authorized in a federal order granting increased payments to producers in the hundred-weight price of milk. However, publication of the new retail price has been withheld pending outcome of the court proceedings.

Malcolm McCabe, executive secretary of the Mass. Retail Grocers' Ass'n, also voiced strong protest against upping the present price.

"As a matter of paramount importance to thousands of hard-pressed families," he said, "this retail price increase of milk must be delayed until adequate consumer hearings are held to prove the necessity for the increase."

Meanwhile, marketing housewives found reductions in meat and butter prices. Costs of lamb, pork chops and smoked shoulders went down 10 cents a pound. Steaks slumped 4 cents to 85 cents a pound while butter was down to 79 cents a pound.

Egg prices slumped too with large eggs selling at 75 to 79 cents a dozen, compared with prices of 90 cents to $1 a dozen two weeks ago.

Taft Maps Fight To Force Social Benefits by Law

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 27 (AP)—A powerful campaign to force early action by Congress on so-called "social" legislation was mapped today by Sen. Taft (R.) of Ohio, as an apparently integral part of his expected bid for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination.

Despite his forecast of opposition by other Republicans, the Ohio senator stood committed today to head a drive for legislation to expand old age assistance, increase unemployment compensation, construct public housing and provide state-administered federal aid for health and education.

All this, Taft told an audience of Republican club members at Gearheart, Ore., last night, may cost the federal government $1,000,000,000 a year.

Conceding that the post-war budget situation may force a modest beginning, nevertheless Taft said he believes the Republican party will and should proceed with these measures in the next session.

EXPECTS DELAY

The Ohio Senator made it plain he expects many Republicans to demand that action on welfare legislation be postponed until after the 1948 election.

He said that some of his party members:

"Hesitate to undertake these additional activities if they are to be set up and administered by men who really do not believe in State or local control or independence."

"They distrust the present administration of the federal security administration because it has shown an intense desire for federal control of everything and everybody," he declared.

"They fear the same lack of cooperation from President Truman as he exhibited when he appointed to administer the labor-management (Taft-Hartley) relations act three men who apparently had no sympathy whatever with the purposes of the act."

HAS ADVANTAGE

But Taft indicated clearly that in his position as chairman of the Senate's Republican policy committee he will attempt to batter these objections down.

He also will have the advantage of being chairman of the Senate labor and welfare committee, which would handle many of the measures he has suggested.

Tass added the mother was "of a Burial Mongolian collective farm." The Burials are Mongols in South Central Siberia, near Lake Baikal.

to dope while on critical Navy duty was disclosed by his socialite wife to federal authorities. Her story revealed to investigators is this:

Com. Green traveled to New Zealand on the naval transport Wakefield in 1942. He became acquainted with a doctor on board.

Green told his wife he obtained morphine from the doctor while aboard. The same doctor stayed in New Zealand and continued to feed Com. supplies of dope, the wife related.

This ship's doctor is allegedly now a prominent practitioner in civilian life.

The author told investigators that he had been cured of the drug habit before going back into naval service, but resumed the craving after donning the uniform.

Green, an Annapolis graduate in 1939 and a graduate of the Naval War College in 1946, has collaborated in authoring books with Charles A. Lindbergh, Adm. Richard E. Byrd and Martin Johnson, animal hunter.

Involved in the web which led to the Green's palatial estate in New Canaan, Ct., and which agents say trafficked in more than $100,000 worth of dope in the last two years, are two South Americans—one a diplomat in New York, the other a high Latin American police official—two outstanding New York doctors, and a prominent New York lawyer.

P. A. Williams, Federal narcotics chief for the New England district, said he hopes to have these persons in custody soon on conspiracy charges to violate the Federal Narcotics Act.

Deisler, who is linked in his dope trafficking with the Manhattan lawyer, told agents he started operations for Mrs. Green in October, 1946.

Federal agents have already traced $34,000 in cash which had been passed to him and the New York lawyer—for purchases of morphine, heroin, opium and other forms of dope, according to Deisler's story.

In one deal—last June—Deisler and the lawyer received $32,000 from the Greens. This, agents say, covered $27,000 for 37 ounces of drugs, plus $500 for payment to Deisler for his services. Deisler, according to the agreement under which he would receive 20 per cent of all cash paid over by the Greens.

Deisler has refused to divulge his source of purchases to federal agents, pleading that his life would be in danger. He limited his confession to admitting that he got the drugs from a man known to him as "M."

Federal agents have interpreted this to mean the underworld Mafia, chief source of illicit drugs in the country, whose headquarters are located in the Manhattan-Harlem district.

Chinese Rule Dairen Under Reds

SEOUL, Sept. 27 (AP)—The once-great Manchurian seaport of Dairen now is ruled by a Chinese government which operates under the Russian military occupying the city, an American official said today.

First news in months from the yellow seaport city was brought by H. M. Benninghoff, American consul general there, who, with his wife, flew in a Soviet plane to Pyongyang, in Russian-occupied north Korea, and then came here by train. Mrs. Benninghoff is undergoing treatment at an Army hospital.

Benninghoff said the Russians selected Japanese-speaking Chinese to head the government in Dairen and that other Chinese acceptable to the Soviets fill key positions. He would not say whether the Chinese administration is Communist.

Block Winter Evictions, Bradford Aim

Gov. Bradford, in a move to protect tenants from being evicted from their homes during the severe winter months, has asked Atty. Gen. Barnes for an opinion on whether he has authority to request the courts to grant stays of eviction for more than four months.

In a communication to the attorney-general the governor wrote:

"The rapid increase in the number of eviction cases now coming before our courts is a matter of grave concern. I have been searching for some practicable and equitable means by which relief may be effected at the state level."

"Under an Act passed by the Legislature this year, the courts now have the power, in their discretion, to suspend judgment and execution for four months in eviction cases. But the four-month postponement, if granted today, will have the effect of forcing families out of their homes during the most severe season of the year."

"Since construction of dwellings will then also be at the lowest point of the year, the evicted families will find it extremely difficult to secure shelter."

"I request your opinion as to whether, in view of this critical situation, it lies within my power under the constitution, the general laws or any other law of the Commonwealth, to issue regulations authorizing the courts, at their discretion, to grant tenants more time before eviction shall become effective."

Secret Radio in Home Of Red Envoy to U. S.

By KENT HUNTER

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—Existence of a secret short wave transmitter behind a secret panel in the home of R. Adm. Eugen Georgevich Glinkov, senior Russian naval attache in the U. S., was revealed today.

Germans Laugh At British Blasts

BERLIN, Sept. 27 (AP)—Many Germans smiled today as the Nazi-built air raid shelter in the Tiergarten defied British efforts to flatten it with explosives.

Last month the British army tried to destroy the massive steel and concrete shelter and flak tower with 50,000 pounds of TNT. The tower stood firm, though shattered inside.

A charge today that was intended to bring down one corner of the tower blew a hole approximately 15 by 6 feet in the north-west wall.

Chinese Reds Seize Big Molybdenum Mines

PEIPING, Sept. 27 (AP)—Chinese Communists were reported today to have captured government mines which tap one of the world's biggest molybdenum deposits, 15 miles from Chihsi in Southwest Manchuria.

It is believed to have been in operation for six months.

Actual discovery of the secret transmitter's hiding place behind the secret panel in Adm. Glinkov's home came through an accidental pressure on just the right spot in the wooden paneling of a room in the Russian admiral's home by a naval officer of another foreign power who was paying a social call, according to reliable information obtained by the Hearst newspapers.

The visiting naval officer leaned casually against one wooden section after another in the paneled room, as he conversed with the Russian admiral.

Eventually the visiting naval officer accidentally leaned against the proper spot, and the secret doors slid away to reveal the hidden transmitter.

NO ACTION TAKEN

The startling denouement occurred about 8:30 p. m. Wednesday night, Sept. 24.

Nothing has been done about it, though private maintenance of such a secret sending set is a violation of diplomatic protocol, at least.

What action may be taken in the near future is an unsolved riddle.

But the revelation of the event, following closely on the disclosure two days ago that Col. Sergei M. Kudriatsev, who was first secretary of the Russian embassy in Ottawa, Canada, during the period a Russian spy ring operated there during the early years of the war, is now serving as adviser to Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko at Lake Success, will stir deep interest in Washington.

KNOWN REDS TABBED

John Grierson, chairman of the Canadian Film Board during the war, and mentioned unfavorably in the report of the Canadian Royal Commission on the Canadian spy ring activities, has recently been named as propaganda director for the UN educational, scientific and cultural organization, though he was refused a visa to enter the U. S. only last February.

Capitol Hill knows that when Premier Mackenzie King of Canada visited President Truman shortly after the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt, a list of more than 400 names of men and women uncovered as Soviet agents during the Canadian spy investigation, but who had escaped to the U. S. before action could be taken against them, was transmitted to the White House.

Trials during recent months of proved Communist on such charges as passport violations, linked with hearings before the un-American activities committee of the House, have focused American attention on the activities of Communists in America.

Her husband is the Rev. Clinton Adams Condict, director of Christian work at the University of New Hampshire and an aviator himself. She was chosen queen by 400 air enthusiasts taking part in the New England Air Tour which halted overnight for a banquet here.

Grocers, Restaurateurs Gird To Fight Milk Price Boost

Grocers and restaurant owners combined today to battle a proposed one-cent increase in milk prices, to be effective Wednesday, as other food costs showed reductions. The Massachusetts Restaurant Ass'n has sought an injunction against the State Milk Control Board to prevent approval of the proposed increase.

Ann Hewitt, Hubby Mrs. FDR Critical To Surrender Of Russians

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., Sept. 27 (INS)—Ann Cooper Hewitt, 33, and her radio announcer husband, Frank "Rodeo Roy" Nicholson, 41, were to surrender today in San Rafael on warrants charging them with conspiracy to violate California's premarital blood test law.

Their attorney said the couple, married 24 hours after Nicholson's previous wife died an apparent suicide, would give themselves up at 9:30 a. m.

The warrants were issued by Police Judge Guy Chiozza who set bail at $1500. A similar warrant was issued for Nicholson's brother, Eugene, a San Francisco printer, after disclosing that the couple presented blood test certificates dated four days before Mrs. Gertrude Nicholson, 36, died in a San Francisco hospital from an overdose of aspirin.

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 27 (AP)

—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt says it is impossible to understand why the Russians act as they do. She told a reporter that at times the difficulties of dealing with Soviet delegates to the United Nations appear almost insuperable.

"Try as you may, you cannot understand why they act as they do, even when you project your-into the position their nation occupies," Mrs. Roosevelt, a United States delegate to the UN, added:

"The Russians appear to be waiting for another depression here to create pools of unemployed people who might be tempted to Communism. But do they think what the consequences to the world would be if the Western Hemisphere was in such chaos it could no longer export food?"

Of Russians

Hearing on the petition, which asks the board to show cause why it should not be enjoined from approving the increase, has been set for 10 a. m. Monday by Judge Joseph L. Hurley.

The record high retail price of 22 cents a quart was authorized in a federal order granting increased payments to producers in the hundred-weight price of milk. However, publication of the new retail price has been withheld pending outcome of the court proceedings.

Malcolm McCabe, executive secretary of the Mass. Retail Grocers' Ass'n, also voiced strong protest against upping the present price.

"As a matter of paramount importance to thousands of hard-pressed families," he said, "this retail price increase of milk must be delayed until adequate consumer hearings are held to prove the necessity for the increase."

Meanwhile, marketing housewives found reductions in meat and butter prices. Costs of lamb, pork chops and smoked shoulders went down 10 cents a pound. Steaks slumped 4 cents to 85 cents a pound while butter was down to 79 cents a pound.

Egg prices slumped too with large eggs selling at 75 to 79 cents a dozen, compared with prices of 90 cents to $1 a dozen two weeks ago.

66 Nazi Convicts Flee In France—43 Caught

PARIS, Sept. 27 (INS)—A manhunt spread through southern France today for 23 convicted Nazi collaborators who are believed to have received aid from the right-wing underground in their daring escape from the Carrere detention camp.

Forty-three additional fugitives have been recaptured.

HAUNTED MANSE

ASPLEY GUISE, Eng., Sept. 27 (AP)—B. Key, of Eel Pie Island, Twickenham, had a complaint. He said one of his properties was haunted and the town should reduce his tax assessment. The assessment committee set up all last night in the house to investigate.

Moonbeams flickered on the cracked walls of the 300-year-old mansion, occupied only by a caretaker. Branches brushed eerily against the windows. No ghosts appeared, but Councilor H. W. Richards said he "felt something" in the house and planned further investigation.

Woman, Stepson Held in Car Thefts

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 27 (AP)—Police today arrested a Bronx, N. Y., woman and her stepson, who allegedly admitted thefts of expensive automobiles in Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey and Texas.

The woman, Mrs. Mary Bonard, 46, was arrested as she attempted at a hotel here to sell a large 1946 sedan stolen in Atlantic City. The serial number had been filed from the motor.

Chief Inspector John J. Deary said the woman involved her stepson and that he was waiting for her at the railroad station. When the woman requested police here to notify a male friend of hers in New York to go to her apartment to feed her two dogs and a bird, the apartment was raided and two loaded revolvers, a shotgun and rubber stamp equipment said to have been used in connection with registration papers for stolen cars were allegedly found.

Red Blasts Laid To Home Troubles

LEICESTER, England, Sept. 27 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee said today:

"The virulence of the attacks on the rest of the world in the Soviet press is the measure of the difficulties that the Russian government is experiencing."

In a Labor party address Attlee expressed belief Eastern Europe was sharing the difficulties cited by the 16 western nations in their recent report on the Marshall Plan conference.

Cottle Held for Grand Jury In Clubbing Death of Wife

Girard G. Cottle, 31-year-old West Yarmouth plumber charged with the budgeon-slaying of his wife, Priscilla, 29, was being held without bail today for the grand jury, after a hearing before Judge Paul M. Swift in Barnstable County Court.

During the hearing it was testified that Cottle had admitted the crime while in a jealous rage, after seeing his wife return home early Sept. 14 in the car of another man.

Judge Swift also held Kenneth T. Perry, 31, of West Yarmouth, a garage mechanic and father of two children, in $8000 bail as a material witness.

Mrs. Cottle was slain, according to police, after she got out of Perry's car about 1:30 a. m. the morning she was beaten to death with a rock and a pinch-bar.

Chief witness for the State and at the same time, one of the leaders in raising a fund amounting to $3000 to defend Cottle was Alfred S. Roderick, 36, brother of the slain woman.

Under questioning by Dist. Atty. Edward Lajole, Roderick said: "I heard Jerry say he killed my sister."

Groom Brows Carefully

HAPPILY THE DAY of artificially plucked brows has passed and we now recognize the fact that much of the individuality of facial expression is due to the natural shape of the eyebrows.

Nature... when drawing our portraits... put in just the right arcs and curves for our particular features... so our job is not to alter those lines but to groom them. An implement especially designed for the job is a professional-type tweezer... which has scissors-handles for assuring a firm grip on each hair.

If you would tweeze without a twinge... soften the pores with hot applications. Pull each hair in the direction in which it is growing.

Raising your eye-cue is only a matter of good grooming... with a little attention devoted to simple details.—R. M.

TOP RIGHT: Elongated silhouette is emphasized in handbags this season as well as clothes. Of classic practicality is this black calf handbag... designed by Evans... framed in gold metal and fitted with compact, lipstick case, cigaret case, automatic lighter and metal-edged comb. Although keyed to the trend... it may be carried with any number of different types of costumes.

BELOW: Smart-suited to suits is this large Evans handbag... featuring an exterior pocket as well as an array of fittings within... including compact, lipstick, cigaret case and automatic lighter.

Latest Handbags--- Like 'Em?

CLASSICISM in suede gives fashion prominence to this accessory. Surrounded by a gold metal frame... this Evans-designed black suede handbag is even more appealing when opened... for it contains all the necessary feminine accoutrements in individual pockets, obviating the usual junk-heap look of most handbag in-bards. Here is a handbag that can be carried from early morn through the day till dinner.

 1/2 cup chopped onion
 1 cup mayonnaise
 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. pepper
 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

1/2 cup crushed potato chips
 Add 1 tablespoon salt to actively boiling water. Gradually add noodles and boil until tender (about 4 minutes). Drain and rinse. While noodles are cooking, combine shrimp, celery, green pepper and onion. Add noodles. Mix mayonnaise, 1/2 tsp. salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce and fold into noodle mixture. Spread in greased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Sprinkle with potato chips. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

TOMATO CHEESE OMELET
 4 eggs, beaten until frothy
 1 11-oz. can condensed cream of tomato soup undiluted
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1-3 cup grated American cheese
 2 tbs. butter or margarine
 2 tbs. fat 2 tbs. flour

Beat together eggs, 1/2 cup soup, salt and cheese. Heat fat in skillet. Add egg mixture and cook slowly. Run spatula around edge, lifting to allow uncooked portion to "flow" underneath.

When slightly browned on bottom, fold omelet in half. Let stand over a low heat until center of omelet is set. To make sauce: melt butter or margarine; add flour and blend well. Add remaining soup gradually. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Serve over Tomato Cheese Omelet. Makes 4 servings.

Sunday Night Snack Ideas

By MARTHA LEE
 Household Editor

IT IS WISE to keep at hand a collection of food ideas for Sunday night snacks and informal suppers which can be prepared on the spur of the moment from ingredients usually tucked away in the refrigerator and on the pantry shelf.

TOMATO AND BACON SANDWICH WITH SWISS CHEESE SAUCE

Butter slices of rye bread and arrange in pair on broiling pan. Pare and cut tomatoes in thick slices or halves, and place on each piece of bread. Lay 2 strips of bacon over each pair of bread slices. Broil slowly until bacon is crisp and edges of bread are a golden brown. Lift carefully to serving plates. Make a sauce by melting 1/2 pound Swiss cheese in 1 cup evaporated milk in top of double boiler. (Processed cheese melts to make a superbly smooth sauce. For quicker melting, cut the cheese in small pieces.) Pour hot sauce over sandwiches. Garnish with sprigs of watercress or parsley or olives.

STRIKING ACCESSORY... and practical and pretty at well... is this Evans carryall... a stunning two-tone gold plate affair for those many glamorous evenings ahead when the bulk of a handbag is a burden, yet feminine fancies are necessary. This carryall features a compartment for cigarets on one side... on the other side, a loose powder chamber, lipstick case, comb and change purse.

Henry Wallace Finds Atomic Fertilizer Aids His Crops

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—The theory that radioactive substances might increase the yield of crops, reported recently from the scene of the atomic bomb blast at Nagasaki, Japan, was advanced today with a statement that a similar increase was noted when radioactive fertilizer was used on Henry Wallace's 118-acre farm in Westchester County, New York.

A Wallace spokesman said to-mato plants treated with radioactive fertilizer showed a 30 per cent increase in weight yield. The radioactive substance, obtained from a neighboring watch factory, where it is a by-product in the manufacture of radium-treated watches, constituted about one-trillionth of the total fertilizer bulk.

One explanation was that sterilization of the ground by the Nagasaki atomic bomb, killing off crop pests, accounts for the increased crop yield.

Increases of 50 to 300 per cent were reported by Takeo Furuno, Nagasaki agricultural expert, on his small plot directly under where the bomb exploded.

It was suggested the same effect might be produced by planes flying with radioactive generators of some kind.

Capone Mobsters' Parole Probed

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (AP)—The parole of four one-time members of Al Capone's gang from federal prisons after they served one-third of their 10-year sentences was, says Rep. Clare Hoffman (R.) of Michigan, "most unusual."

Hoffman, chairman of a House subcommittee investigating the paroles said the committee wanted to question members of the Federal Parole Board.

Reprint of Famous Film Stars Features 'The Women'

THOSE WOMEN of "The Women," which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is reissuing after eight years as one of its Masterpiece Reprints, were a very remarkable lot of women indeed. Some were already famous in 1939; others, comparatively unknown then, are widely known today. The picture, based on Clare Boothe Luce's witty and (come said) "catty" comedy, was a star-maker of no small magnitude.

Heading the cast was Norma Shearer, then at the height of her career, and with her was Joan Crawford. It has been several years since Miss Shearer was last seen in pictures, but millions still think of her as the First Lady of the Screen, a title she was the first to wear. Miss Crawford has appeared in many successful roles since that Crystal Allen in "The Women," her outstanding films having included "Susan and God," "When Ladies Meet," "Hollywood Canteen," "Mildred Pierce," "Fanny," and the current "Possessed."

Rosalind Russell is another actress who scored in "The Women" and who has continued to hold her place in the foremost ranks of stardom, without "Sister Kenny" and the forthcoming "Mourning Becomes Electra."

Then there is the beautiful Paulette Goddard, whose first outstanding appearance prior to "The Women" had been in Charlie Chaplin's "Modern Times." Since 1939 she has become more and more popular. Remember the alluring "Kitty" not so long ago?

And then there is Joan Fontaine, of whom quite a lot has been heard since she was seen in "The Women" — "Rebecca," "Frenchman's Creek," "The Affairs of Susan," and "Ivy," to name only a few.

Phyllis Fovah has devoted herself to the stage; she supported Gypsy Rose Lee in "The Naked Genius" and was also in the cast of the very successful "Dear Ruth."

The role of Little Mary in "The Women" was played by Virginia Weidler, then 12 years old, now a grown-up young lady and an actress and singer of national reputation.

Then there was that sterling player Lucille Watson, who since "The Women" has been seen in such memorable films as "Waterloo Bridge," "Watch on the Rhine," "The Thin Man Goes Home," "Till We Meet Again," "Uncertain Glory" and "The Razor's Edge."

LOVE IN THE WHEAT COUNTRY—Alan Ladd and Dorothy Lamour, as they appear in Paramount's thrill-drama, "Wild Harvest," due next Thursday on the Paramount and Fenway screens.

STEWART IN HIT AT BEACON
The James Stewart-starring film hit, "It's a Wonderful Life," is to be seen on the Beacon screen for a four-day run beginning tomorrow. The co-feature is to be "Spoilers of the North," with Paul Kelly and Agria Booth.

Stricken

Ill in Tree—Perry Simmons, Los Angeles resident, is lowered to ground from tree in front of his home by city firemen after he suffered a heart attack. He was pruning the branches when stricken.

'Dem Bums'

Thousands spread around Borough Hall in Brooklyn to honor members of the victorious Brooklyn Dodgers, winners of the National League pennant. Hall ceremonies followed a parade through packed streets during which Brooklynites screamed for their heroes.

In Model Yacht Competition—Leonard Knott of the Back Bay, Joe McKinnon of Rosbury and Walter Wisniewski and Francis McGeary, both of South Boston, send their craft away for a trial spin before taking part in the Metropolitan Model Yacht Competition at the Charles river lagoon today. The affair was sponsored by the Community Recreation Service, a Red Feather project.

Ski Scootin'

"It helps keep old age away," says Ken Fogler, the gentleman hanging on at the end of the tow rope in the Allegheny river at Oakmont, Pa. The sport is called ski scooting. The pilot of the seaplane doing the towing is Earle Fafean.

Dating

Applauding an entertainer at a Hollywood nitery are David Rose, composer-conductor, and his steady date, attractive Diane Garrett, talented filmstress. He was formerly wed to Judy Garland.

Don't Forget to Turn Back Your Clock

Reminder—Gateman Louis F. Ceveus of South Boston, familiar figure at the South Station, won't have to change his watch tonight because, like all railroadmen, he works on standard time. But, he's reminding you to turn your clock back one hour.

FOR 'WELFARE' OR TORTURE?

WITH GOOD REASON, humanitarians of the nation have joined in denouncing a $2000 "research" award offered by the promoters of National Dog Week, now in progress.

The award, according to an official and widely publicized announcement, is to be given to "the person or persons in the United States who, because of their additions to available knowledge, have contributed outstandingly to the welfare of dogs."

The announcement further—and significantly—states that "research undertaken primarily for the benefit of man shall qualify for the 'National Dog Week research award.'"

To those familiar with the sugar-coated double-talk of vivisectionists, the word "research" used in this connection all but amounts to saying the award will be given for an alleged medical discovery which can be credited to the "scientific" torture of some unfortunate canine victim, or victims.

Furthermore, a study of the five judges who will make the award discloses that at least three are conspicuous apologists for dog vivisection.

Promoters of this observance for the supposed benefit of dogs have selected none other than Dr. A. C. Ivy, secretary of the National Society for Medical Research, official pro-vivisection propaganda outlet!

Others on the tribunal which will decide who has contributed to "the welfare of dogs" are: Dr. Carl F. Schlottbauer of the Mayo Foundation, Dr. James H. Steele, chief of the veterinary section of the U. S. Public Health Service, and Dr. C. A. Elvehjem, dean of the graduate school of the University of Wisconsin.

THE FIFTH JUDGE—perhaps as a sop to dog-lovers—is Dr. W. A. Young, managing director of the Anti-Cruelty Society of Chicago.

However, even this is not so much of a concession as it would appear. For, while the Anti-Cruelty Society is a humane organization, Dr. Young, a veterinary by profession, was one of a group which recently met with Dr. Ivy and others to "discuss ways and means by which dogs and other domestic pets can be vivisectioned "humanely."

Going further, the "award rules suggest special research into "endocrine dysfunction" and "distemper control with nervous system sequelae."

If the promoters of Dog Week do not know that the most frightful tortures of the vivisection chamber are practiced in glandular and nerve "experiments," they are practically alone in their ignorance. Dr. Ivy certainly knows it, because he has recorded in gruesome detail and at length, many experiments of this type, all involving the frightful, prolonged and repeated suffering for helpless animal subjects.

Mrs. Elliot Tuckerman, recording secretary of the Vivisection Investigation League, says:

"This so-called research award amounts to a strange alliance between an organization which exists through a supposed interest in dog welfare and a body of professional clinicians whose sole interest in dogs seems to be cutting them up alive or subjecting them to other unmentionable tortures."

"The Hearst newspapers merit the gratitude of every dog owner in America for their exposure of this conspiracy to inflict further atrocities on living creatures under the pretense of helping them."

NATIONAL DOG WEEK is sponsored by an organization which calls itself "National Dog Week, Inc.," and emphasizes that it is a "noncommercial, nonprofit movement."

Its published list of directors includes two editors of dog magazines, four representatives of large corporations which manufacture dog food, and a dealer in dog medicines.

It is not known whether these gentlemen understand the real purpose of the "research" award. However, if they do understand it, they should be frank and call it by its real name—a $2000 "PRICE FOR DOG TORTURE."

They also might suggest to their publicity division, or to whoever is responsible, that the official poster for National Dog Week, 1947, is singularly out of place this year.

This poster shows a smiling small girl hugging a pup, which she plainly loves with all her heart. Beside the little girl and the pup is printed prominently: "YOURS FOR KEEPS."

Obviously, the sponsors, promoters and commercial backers of National Dog Week either should withdraw this poster or change it to read: "YOURS IF THE VIVISECTIONISTS PERMIT."

Let us roll our strength and all Our sweetness up into one ball And tear our pleasures with rough strife Through the iron gates of life.

There is one thing to be said in favor of long skirts for females. They make women better automobile drivers. Wearing the more abbreviated attire feminine autoists are constantly taking their hands off the wheel and their eyes off the road to pull their skirts down over their knees.

PLEASE NOTE: Note a Pittsburgher named John B. Sweezy has invented a snow-covered sidewalk in a minute or less. How I could have used something like that when I was a kid! My father, as a sideline, was superintendent of three flathouses and I was his assistant in charge of cleaning snow off the sidewalks. A colossal task after some snowstorms. And usually while I was working some of the kids across the street would bombard me with snowballs. A hard life.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—When was the song, "I Miss You Most of All," first popularized? A—That's a real old timer. At least 40 years old. It included the line, "The chairs in the parlor all miss you." That's when sweet nothings were whispered in the parlor and not in parked automobiles. Briefly, in your grandpa's young days. Q—What are the chances of an Aries man and a Leo woman doing together married life without throwing too many things at each other? A—Aries (Mar. 22-Apr. 20) and Leo (July 24-Aug. 23) are compatible signs. An Aries man is inclined to domination of the domestic scene. He contradicts and criticizes. Is likely to be conceited. But he is a home boy at heart; likes children, dogs and even gardening. Is usually a good provider. Leo women, generally young, like it. They know how to handle this type. An Aries man may in a fit of temper throw things but never at his wife; he throws them on the floor or against the wall. Or so say the star-gazers.

HORSES & WOMEN: "He's just a little boy to me." That's what you hear some wives say about their husbands. This observation makes men of experience shudder. The life of a husband whose wife considers him "just a little boy" can be a very tough existence. Little boys are told what to do and when to do it. When they can go out and when they can come in. How much money they can spend and how they must spend it. And so on. Keep this in mind, young fellow. Get yourself a wife who considers you a man.

AULD LANG SYNE. Edna May, star of the original production "The Belle of New York," is living in London and is expected to visit New York, shortly. Edna was born in Syracuse, N. Y. Real name Edna May Pottier. It is just about 50 years ago she scored a sensational hit in the title role of "The Belle of New York" at the Casino Theatre, Manhattan. She was 17 at that time and a chorus girl when selected for the highly important part. George W. Lederer was the producer of "The Belle of New York." C. W. McClelland wrote the book. Gustave Kerker did the music. Harry Davenport, still very active in the films, was a member of the original cast.

PASSING: Georgie Price, Wall Street man. Member of the N. Y. Stock Exchange firm of Price and Davis. When he grows weary of life in Wall St., or needs a little extra money, Georgie returns to his old occupation of night club entertainer. He is now so engaged. As an entertainer I have always rated him right up there with Jolson, Cantor and Jessel. "Daddy" Vance. Erstwhile Dodger hurler. Now a resident of Homosassa, Fla. The two Brooklyn pitchers who entertained me the most were Vance and "Nap" Rucker. Daddy's specialty was fanning members of the N. Y. Giants and Nap's was making them pop up to the infield. Both highly gratifying spectacles.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL. Home is a much safer place for childbirth than a hospital. On this a number of Pennsylvania doctors were agreed at a recent medical society meeting. Keep this in mind if anticipating a blessed event.

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE European response to the Marshall Plan involves a continuing free gift from this country until 1951 of American commodities, some of which are easily replaceable, as, for instance, wheat, but others are irreplaceable, as, for instance, iron and steel products.

Geo. E. Sokolsky

The replaceable commodities we can gladly contribute, without much anxiety, up to our capacity and as long as the gifts do not so raise prices in this country as to produce a dangerous inflation. Last year we contributed 18,500,000 tons of food, all told, including grain which produced inflationary high prices in this country and endangered our economy.

IT IS ESTIMATED that this year we might guarantee to contribute 10,000,000 tons of wheat with a promise to send more if we have a proved surplus. We shall probably be able to contribute other food products if there is a surplus here. And the best way to prove a surplus is by the yardstick of holding prices. It is not necessary or wise to lower the American standard of living although our characteristic profligate waste is shocking. When Senator Taft said that we might eat less, he might also have said that we ought to stop wasting.

At any rate, there is a category of goods which we can share without much concern and fear for ourselves now or in the future. Food and fibres fall readily into this category and as they are most essential for the Europeans, much can be done in this respect. The fact that the Russians have had a bumper crop should help some, for certainly the satellite states and the puppets should prefer to eat Russian grain, particularly as ours is tainted by capitalism. Be that as it may, we ought to say outright that we can give them replaceable commodities.

WHEN, HOWEVER, we deal with irreplaceable commodities, more thought and care should be given to the subject and we certainly ought to be fair. Shipments of coal, for instance, from this country to Europe, particularly to England, smack of the ridiculous. It is wasteful of shipping and manpower, at a time of shortages, to carry coals to Newcastle.

The Europeans can mine coal as well as we can and there is no reason why we should waste our natural resources while they hoard theirs. That is what it amounts to with coal, iron, petroleum and all their manufactured products. We were profligate with our natural resources and manufactured goods during the war because we were intent upon winning it.

War is a wasteful process; it is impossible in such a state of desperation to worry about goods when the lives of our children must be a first consideration. But to continue to export, for free, our dwindling metals and minerals is foolhardy. Averell Harriman's committee is supposed to give this country facts and figures as to what our resources and capacities are. Such figures have not yet been made available for study and scrutiny and until they are, not a pound of irreplaceable goods ought to be shipped out of this country. Soviet Russia has a sound rule about irreplaceables; it keeps them at home.

THE LAST WAR PROVED that that side can win a modern war whose iron and steel industries, with their associated manufacturing industries, can best be mobilized for excessive production. Had the United States not thrown its resources and manufacturing capacity in support of Great Britain and Soviet Russia, Germany could have, beyond doubt, won the war. The independence of this nation, therefore, depends upon a continued bountiful supply of metals, particularly high grade iron ore, and fuels for manufacturing processes and transportation.

Without these, this country may some day become as dependent upon the supplier as Great Britain is now dependent upon us—the supplier Statesmen, caught in the hurly-burly of immediate problems and negotiations, often fear to look beyond their noses, lest what they see paralyze them in current matters. But the American people dare not disregard the profligate waste of its irreplaceable natural resources, because upon them depends the future of our civilization. Marshall Plan, or otherwise, the needs of this country, particularly the political need for independence, must come first.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27 (INS)—Things are jiving and jumping at Columbia, with stars being signed right and left by Harry Cohn, who's in there pitching with his sleeves rolled up these days. First and foremost he signed Dorothy Lamour to do a musical to be selected later—a high budget movie on the order that Rita Hayworth gets. Well, that ought to be good enough for anybody. It doesn't mean, however, that Dorothy has a contract with Cohn of Columbia, such as she has with RKO and Paramount. It's only for one performance.

Dorothy Lamour

Another contract was signed yesterday and it couldn't happen to a nicer guy. Jimmy Gleason is back on the lot where he will be seen as Uncle Willie, the inveterate horse player and horse lover in "Return of October," with Glenn Ford.

I WOULDN'T for the world insure it took a tornado to convert Harry Richman from a Florida man to a California man—but Harry has bought a $35,000 lot in Beverly Hills, where he will build a new home—and listen to this, he's going in the movies!

The crown prince of the night club singers has signed a contract with Joe Pasternak for "Olympic Queen," which goes into production in January on the MGM lot with a whole array of MGM's musical comedy talent—Esther Williams, Jimmy Durante et al. Harry's always had a hankering to do pictures, and this one gives him a chance to sing all his favorite tunes.

I THINK I TOLD you some time ago that it was practically set for June Haver to make "Marilyn Miller." Well, today she told me it is definitely set, and not only does she do that, but two others for Warners.

"It's part of a deal they made," she said, "I wanted to play in the Marilyn Miller movie so much that I had Jerry Wald come on the set and watch me."

June, who is thinner than she's ever been in her life, is very happy about her career, which she says is the one thing that keeps her going these days.

IF I WERE Eric Johnson I would refuse to let any motion picture be shown in Memphis as long as Lloyd Binford is head of the censor board there. You would see how soon he would be removed. The Memphis folk would rebel if they didn't have movies.

It's one thing to censor pictures that are immoral. That I'm in favor of. But to cut scenes just because they show a Negro child or a Negro person is the most arrogant form of intolerance.

E. Howard, in a clipping from the Memphis Press-Scimitar sent to me, quotes Binford as saying: "Picture people don't worry me. I represent the city of Memphis. I don't even know what picture Louella Parsons was talking about, I ban so many."

CHIT CHAT: Henry Fonda and John Huston had better not go back to Catalina. They are not welcome. The Never-Catch-a-Marlin Club, headed by such disgruntled members as Tay Garnett, who has been trying for 19 years; Spencer Tracy, an unsuccessful member for 14 years; and Bill Demarest, "the oldest living marlin baiter in the world," are furious.

Both Fonda and Huston are brand new to the ranks of the fishermen and both have caught the coveted outsized fish. It's almost more than the bitter boys can bear. Now all they need is for Margaret O'Brien to bring one in.

Tony Martin's movie career hasn't moved along as fast as he deserves, because he has a beautiful voice and he's a good looking boy—but things are looking up.

Sidney Box, J. Arthur Rank producer, is taking back to England with him Tony's written acceptance to star in "Summer Holiday," a musical to be made at Brighton Beach next summer.

Of course, the velvet-voiced Mr. Martin isn't exactly idle now. He's put some of his own money, along with his talent, into "Casbah," the tuneful remake of "Algiers," at the Universal-International lot. Speaking of "Algiers," did you know that Charles Boyer swears there was never a line in it, "Come with me to the Casbah"—the most popular quotation in film history!

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Mrs. Mark Stevens was on the 20th lot today visiting her husband, and the red velvet carpet was put down. The studio is very happy that she and Mark have made up.

Mrs. Franz Lehár, wife of the composer of "The Merry Widow," died in Switzerland this week, according to word received by one of her Hollywood friends.

Marlene Dietrich stays here when she returns to make "A Foreign Affair" for Billy Wilder. Motion picture production in France has slowed down to a walk.

On the Universal-International lot earlier in all week was Louisa Horton, who had the Margaret Sullivan role in the road company of "Voice of the Turtle." Louisa was brought out here for tests for "All My Sons." If she gets the role she will play opposite Burt Lancaster, and that ain't bad—now, is it?

I'm amazed at how many of the film companies are now Louisa Horton bringing stars here from the East just for tests before they're signed. An excellent idea, for it's important to see that the actor or actress photographs properly. It's protection for the studio, and protection for the player.

Lina Romay lost her job and gained a husband at the same time. She was in the landside at MGM. She's marrying John Wilson at Christmas time.

Steve Cochran and Lila Leeds a twoosome-woosome at The Kings. Lila must be partial to the name of Steve. A few months ago it was Steve Crane she gave her smiles to.

This is the best idea yet. Lloyd Bacon would like to have Dan Dailley play the late Frank Bacon in "Barnstorming." While Dan bears absolutely no resemblance to Lloyd's father, he would do a great job.

Bette Davis is minus the expensive hat she wears in "Winter Meeting." She made the mistake of leaving it in a dressing room where her two boxer puppies are quartered. Yes, you guessed it. Now there's delay while it's being duplicated.

Eddie and Ida Cantor took Catherine Luddy, Eddie's school teacher, to the "Blackouts" last night and Ken Murray played the show to her.

Otto Preminger is bringing his mother back from New York with him Sunday to live with him. That would seem to indicate that he and Marian have really decided to call it a day. They have been apart more than they have been together in the past few years.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Broadway's Voice 15

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—I was amused the other day by a report from the cashiers at the Mayfair Theater (where "Kiss of Death" is currently on view), who have been seeing the same faces pass by their windows day after day and who have noted that the repetitious customers usually carried small, neatly-wrapped packages.

The ticket sellers discovered that scores of New York extras and bit players, recruited from the Broadway acting set, are fascinated by the brief scenes at 55th St. of themselves on the silver screen, and have been returning to the theater to watch themselves in action. The little bundles? Their lunches... I note with a slight humming sound that the United Nations Gift Shop (on Madison Ave. at 55th) is just two doors away from The Russian Bear... It seems to me the return of Lois De Fee to the local scene proves just one thing—if you don't call it burlesque you can get away with it. Apparently the city fathers object to burlesque less in fact than in terminology.

Lois De Fee

RECORD COMPANIES are so hepped on reissuing great jazz discs that the collectors' item among phonograph platters is rapidly dipping in value. I know one disconsolate gentleman who owns an old Louis Armstrong record of "Stardust" which two weeks ago was worth $25. Not that he could be persuaded to sell it, but it was nice to brag to friends as they gathered around the gramophone. Now it's been reissued, and all it's good for is playing... I hear Dan Topping, co-owner of the Yankess, has engaged the Leslie House for a tremendous victory party as soon as the World Series is over. Such optimism, eh, Bums?

Idea of which I approve wholeheartedly: Ventriloquist Paul Winchell has formed an independent production partnership with Joe Balaban. I'll be known as Grand International Pictures, and the boys already have purchased 103 old Mack Sennett slapstick silents which they'll release with sound tracks—narration by Winchell and his flip dummy, Jerry Mahoney. Fun?

MY REACTION to Bing Crosby's recitative recording of "The Star Spangled Banner": Oh Bing, honey—no! You're the King and the Groaner, but you weren't built for reading poetry... All Cinderella tales and stories of Broadway discovery make wonderful reading and hearing, and my favorite this week is the one about Max Zero. During the war, when he was public relations officer with the First Division, Max was famous for his singing of the daily communiques. Last Friday night, at the Marguery, the First Army Press Camp held a reunion and at the height of the proceedings Max arose and warbled a lyric which consisted of nothing but the copy on beer bottle labels. Frank Warren, a disc company talent scout passing through an adjacent hallway, heard the ditty—and signed Max to a contract.

NIGHT CLUB business is good, somebody said? How about the case of the Broadway press agent who has kept his job (so far) by lending his cafe owner boss thousands of dollars? ... Johnny Blowers, sometimes known as "Young Mister Jazz," must have had a yearning (unorthodox, I suppose, for fresh air. He deserted Eddie Condon's Village swing-box to open his own joint, the Johnny Blowers Club, in Astoria, where the breezes of Long Island blow and people occasionally see daylight. Very good, too... I am told that a high-ranking member of the Republican Party has "contacted" one Cy Harriette to line up dictation lessons for Gen. Eisenhower if and when the General should decide to run for President. I have no idea who Cy Harriette is, but I guarantee Gen. Eisenhower needs dictation lessons like Harpo Marx needs a fright wig. Right now he sounds like Clark Gable with a college education; with $50 million more fans will be happy to tell the Republican Party, that ain't bad.

I'M ONE of those newspaper readers who can't resist the O. Henry stories in the classified ads. One the other day was poignant and puzzling. It read: "Artificial hand. Lost Saturday. Reward." ... At the end of every summer I promise myself that next year I'm going to visit Fire Island. I keep hearing about it, and reading about it, and it sounds like one of those places you simply ought to get to eventually, like Tasmania, but I've never managed the trip. Travelers who have accomplished the trek tell me it is probably the most care-free place in the East—full of characters, rife with residents walking around barefoot, and the only place north of the Mason-Dixon line where the natives feel perfectly free to borrow a cup of sugar from the neighbors. It sounds fine to me. Copyright, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc.

Forrestal's Wittles

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (INS)—Ever since James V. Forrestal switched from Wall St. to Washington because it is wilder, he has been doing exceedingly well. The new and first Secretary of Defense has shinned up cabinet posts, always greased, with the speed of light.

But the latest confirmation of just how well Forrestal is doing in the nation's capital comes not from the White House but from the State Department's Protocol or Emily Post department.

The Office of Protocol has made the momentous announcement that Forrestal has moved up three notches at dinner table. In the nation's capital, where position at dinner table is everything in life, this spells success with a capital "S."

AS A CACHET of progress, the new secretary's advance at the dinner table can only be likened to any future announcement in the coming World Series that Pete Reiser has advanced from first base to home plate. The fact that Forrestal is now sixth in the presidential line of succession is small potatoes in Washington compared with the fact he has advanced to the chow line until he hands just in the rear of the No. 1 eater, State Secretary George C. Marshall, and Feeder No. 2, Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder.

As Secretary of the Navy Forrestal held sixth place at table. Nothing could more impress the nation's capital with the dignity, importance and seriousness of the new defense post than that protocol now has jumped him three pegs to third place. Washington differs from the rest of the nation in many matters. But in none more than in the capital's preoccupation with who eats where. Unlike the rest of the nation, Washington is obsessed with which official, not which fork, come first.

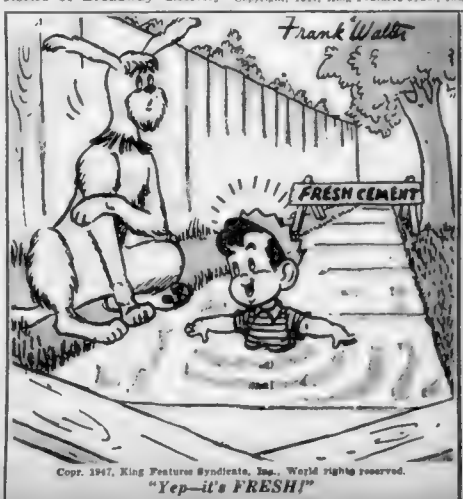

TO SIT below the salt, or an insipid Senator, can be a personal blow so dire as to wreck the evening's digestion of any official forced to this ulu-mate degradation. Dining out in Washington is a career in itself, and not to be taken lightly but with prayers and bicarbonate.

The most fratricidal and juicy feuds have inevitably been over place at table. Witness the rough and tumble Banzai charges between Dolly Gann and Alice Roosevelt Longworth. As half-sister and hostess of Vice-President Charley Curtis, Dolly was determined to sit above Alice. Alice, as wife and hostess for House Speaker Nicholas Longworth, was darned if she would take her wittles below Dolly.

Dolly bulked larger in the aggregate, but Alice was faster on her feet.

It is fascinating to observe how quickly elected officials get the hang and the importance of precedence. Within six weeks after arriving in Washington, men who never gave a hang where they sat home as long as their feet were under the mahogany and the crisp linen held out, will fight for their rightful place at table like a tiger for its young.

Harvard Scores 27 Points in Two Periods

By JOE CASHMAN
HARVARD STADIUM, Sept. 27—Harvard ushered in its 74th football season yesterday by playing host to Western Maryland, an opponent which never before appeared on the Crimson card, before a crowd estimated at 10,000.

Big fast, and deep the Harvard legions were found to win the opening game under wraps and go on to Dick Harlow's greatest grid machine since 1941.

Little was known of the strength of Western Maryland, where Harlow coached before coming to Cambridge. But the visitors were sparked by a flock of former Medford High stars, including Henry Corrado, Joe Gianelli, Joe Corletto and Attilio Margarita, brother of the Harvard backfield coach.

Consequently, Harlow looked for a tough battle. Richard, you see, has a high opinion of greater Boston High School pigskin products. There were several line and Western changes in the Crimson starting lineup. Wally Flynn got the call over Walt Coulson at left end. Nick Rodis opened at left guard instead of center, where Don Stone was on the job; Bob Kenary at right halfback and Joe Kenary, Phil O'Donnell, Chip Gannon and Vince Moravec constituted the backfield.

FIRST PERIOD
Kenary kicked off for Harvard to Cotter, who carried back seven yards to his 42. Western Maryland, using a single wing, couldn't penetrate Harvard's big five-man line and Corrado punted outside on the Crimson 20.

Running from a modified T, Capt. Moravec took a backward pass and shot through a hole in the center of the line to gallop 50 yards. A pass, Gannon to O'Donnell was good for first down on the 17. Then, on a wide sweep to the left, Kenary went the rest of the way for score. An 80-yard touchdown trek in four plays. Kenary booted the extra point.

Score: Harvard 7, Western Maryland 0.

Kenary's second kickoff was taken on the goal line by Suwall, who got back 26 yards. Again the visitors punted on third down and Gannon juggled Corrado's boot back 13 yards from his 40. Moravec hit center for eight. On an uneven pass play, Gannon, unable to find a receiver, took to running and raced to the 20. Kenary added five. A Kenary pass into the end zone was grounded out. Western Maryland was caught pushing and penalized to the one-yard line. Harvard was offside and set back to the six. A shovel pass, O'Donnell to Kenary, spelled another touchdown on a fake back play. The conversion try failed.

Score: Harvard 15, Western Maryland 0.

Jacobson fumbled the kickoff but recovered on his 17. The visitors kicked and Gannon was downed on the Western Maryland 45.

Roach entered the Harvard backfield and, on an off tackle play, sprinted all the way to the seven. Gannon weaved down to the one. Roach went over. Harrison rushed in to convert.

Score: Harvard 20, Western Maryland 0.

Harrison kicked off to Gianelli who raced up 27 yards to his 42. O'Donnell intercepted the first W. Maryland pass, thrown by Gianelli, and zig-zagged down the sidelines 50 yards to a touchdown. Harrison kicked extra point as the period closed.

Score: Harvard 27, Western Maryland 0.

SECOND PERIOD
An exchange of punts put W. Maryland back on its 20. Gianelli picked up 12 for the visitors' first down. The honeymoon quickly ended and Corrado punted to Noonan, who swivel-hipped from his 30 to the invaders' 40 before being forced out of bounds. Warren lost 12, unable to get off a pass. So the Harvard's punted with Moffie quickly going outside on the W. Maryland 40. Corrado kicked right back to Flynn, who was downed on the H 35. Moffie found a seven-yard hole. Moffie lost that yardage on next play by fumbling. Thus the Crimson kicked to the foot 33.

W. Maryland returned the compliment and lost eight yards in the exchange as O'Donnell was downed on his 43. But O'Donnell fumbled and the visitors recovered on the Harvard 40 only to lose the ball on first play when Flynn made an interception on the last play of a scoreless period.

Score: Harvard 27, W. Maryland 0.

Scott of Army went around left end for the touchdown. Steffy missed the try for point.

ARMY 15, Villanova 0.

Dominick passed to Brown for seven. Dominick shot another to Polidor good for 37 yards to the Army's 20. It was Villanova's first real bid, but Army stiffened. A crack at the line failed and three passes by Dominick and Gordon were broken up. Army took over on its own 19, and after trading punts Towan of Army ran to Villanova's 42 as the period ended.

Score: Army 15, Villanova 0.

12,000 See Brookline, Quincy Clash

By MIKE GILLOOLY

QUINCY STADIUM, Sept. 27—An estimated 12,000 fans, urged by ideal weather and the prospect of seeing Brookline's record of 17 straight victories smothered filled the stands and overflowed the field here today as the Class B champions met a heavier Quincy high eleven.

It was the second game of the season for both teams. Brookline had slipped by a rugged Saugus in its opener. Quincy had displayed plenty of drive in whipping Brockton for its ninth straight triumph.

FIRST PERIOD
Quincy got the first break when Lindsey Tait recovered a Brookline fumble on the visitor 43. After Al Lombardi and Charles Sacchetti completed a pass for a first down on the Brookline 25, Al Halleran bolted off tackle all the way for the score. The attempted conversion failed.

The Quincy kickoff was taken by Charlie Haskell on his five. He nearly went all the way down the sideline but was grabbed on the Quincy 41. Tony Misho took over, slamming off tackle, carrying the drive to the three-yard line before Misho went over. Haskell, attempting to rush the point, failed to make it.

Score: End of First Period—Brookline 6, Quincy 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Everett Leads Arlington Early

EVERETT STADIUM, Sept. 27—Under made-to-order football weather conditions, Everett High's heavy football congregation squared off with Arlington High this afternoon with more than 9000 eager spectators in the stands.

Everett, coached by Denny Galdea, stands a favorite over the Spy Pond eleven because of their weight advantage and flashy backs. Arlington has already dropped its first two starts while Everett made it known that its squad was a potential state champ when it bombed Turner's Falls 41 to nothing last Saturday in their opener.

FIRST PERIOD
At no time during the initial period did Arlington High have an opportunity to show their offensive power as Everett's steamrollers intercepted a first play Arlington pass after the kickoff on their own 48. From the Everett 48 the hometown's fullback, Bob Merola, on successive long gains, sparked Everett to the opening touchdown when he went over from the Arlington two.

As the period ended, Everett recovered the kickoff fumble on the Spy Ponders' 33. Merola, on two line plays, brought the ball down to the Arlington 15.

Score: Everett 6, Arlington 0.

SECOND PERIOD
There was no scoring in the second stanza. Arlington stopped Everett on downs on their own 11. The Arlington eleven then took the offensive and brought the ball up to their own 49. The strong Everett line held at that point. Arlington was forced to kick. Everett ran the ball for one first down but was forced to kick deep in their own territory. As the half ended, Arlington took to the air. Fullback Dick Rana of the Spy Ponders unfurled three long passes, one netting 55 yards.

Score: Everett 6, Arlington 0.

20 Tufts Lead Bowdoin 14-0 in First Period

By ALEX McLEAN

Returning to the collegiate coaching ranks after a five-year absence in professional football, Adam Walsh herded his Bowdoin Bears into the Tufts Oval, Medford, for the 46th meeting between the Bruins and the Jumbos yesterday afternoon before a slim gathering of 5350.

Since the series started in 1888, Tufts had been credited with 23 wins and 18 losses, and though his club was injury-riddled, Herb Ellis' Jumbos ranked as slight favorites.

FIRST PERIOD

Dolinier lofted the kickoff into the Bowdoin end zone and the Polar Bears had momentary possession but lost on downs. The Jumbos also had their turn but were unable to hold possession and kicked the visitors back to within 20 yards of their doorstep. A Bowdoin plunge and a resultant fumble gave Tufts possession on the Polar Bears 21-yard stripe. Tullie Dolinier slashed off tackle to the 11 and pinstriped Rudy Fobert whipped to pay dirt on an end round sweep for the first score. Dolinier's kick was good.

Scores: Tufts 7, Bowdoin 0.

Tufts kicked to Dobbie who returned to his own 25, but he fumbled and Tufts was again camped deep in Bowdoin territory. After two unsuccessful running attempts, Dolinier backtracked to the 45 and fired a looping spiral to Fobert who took the heave over his left shoulder as he galloped into the end zone.

Dolinier's placement was good.

Scores: Tufts 14, Bowdoin 0.

Following the kickoff, Bowdoin again contracted fumble fever and Tufts had possession, but the Polar Bear bulwark strengthened and the Jumbos lost on downs. Bowdoin repeated. Bowdoin was backed to their own 27 and resorted to a desperate passing attack. However, a long pitch by Burke was intercepted by Kuchis on the Bowdoin 40 and he returned to the 28 before being dragged down from behind. However, an interference penalty nullified the threat as the period ended.

Scores: Tufts 14, Bowdoin 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Bowdoin still suffered from fumbleitis and Tufts continued to capitalize on the miscues. From a plunge into the middle of the line, the ball squirmed to freedom and bounced unassisted before Tufts recovered on their own 40. After an unsuccessful plunge, Dolinier pitched a perfect strike to Fobert who was pushed out of bounds on the four-yard line. Bob Haines went helmet-first for the third Jumbo T.D. Dolinier's kick was good.

Scores: Tufts 21, Bowdoin 0.

Bowdoin rebounded and staged a 40 yard march to the Tufts 10, featuring Gordie Ben and Gil Dobbie (son of Gloomy Gil, who was B.C. helmetsman during the late thirties, but lost possession when within a first downs reach of paydirt).

Dolinier punted out of danger to the Bowdoin 38 after the Jumbos were unable to penetrate the revived Bowdoin line and been returned to the Tufts 48.

An awry aerial—from Ben—intended for Al Nicholson—was intercepted by Calagione, who pivoted along the sideline to the Bowdoin 48 before being dumped off-side. A synthetic Dolinier to Fobert combination advanced the ball to the Bowdoin 19 for Calagione had been dumped and interference claimed and ruled by the officials. Dolinier slammed to the Bowdoin one-foot line in two tries, but on the next attempt Tom O'Keefe was unable to grab the handle on the pass from center and the ball popped from his grasp toward intruding Al Nicholson, who gathered it in and galloped 98.2 yards for the first Bowdoin score. Draper's attempted conversion failed.

Scores—Tufts 21, Bowdoin 6.

THIRD PERIOD

Tufts kicked to McAvoy, who returned to midfield behind the crisp blocking of Dave Burke, formerly of Quincy High and B. C. (He was a freshman with the pre-war Eagles.) However, Burke's aerial was intercepted two tries later by Ernie Viro, who returned 12 yards to the Bowdoin 45. The Polar Bears had connected with but two aerials in seven attempts in the first half.

The Jumbos had a much more accurate battery in Dolinier and Calagione, who combined to advance the ball to the Bowdoin 38. Tufts, halted there by the big Bowdoin line, kicked to Been on the Bowdoin 15, who returned to the 28 before being overhauled. McAvoy galloped to the Tufts 29, where he was pushed off by safety man Dolinier. The Polar Bear drive was halted and they subsequently lost possession on downs.

Tufts was unable to gain by rushing and on the last down gambled and a lee to Roy pass that moved them to the Bowdoin 46. O'Keefe plunged twice and netted another first down on the Bears' 34. Then Jocko Lee fired two more strikes to Johnson and Johnson, moving the Jumbos to the Bowdoin 10-yard stripe. Dolinier fumbled as he hit the Bowdoin secondary and McAvoy recovered for the Bears on their own 1-yard line as the period ended.

Scores—Tufts 21, Bowdoin 6.

American Boxer Stops Anzac Foe in Two

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 27 (AP)—Freddie Dawson, American lightweight contender from Chicago, scored a technical knockout over Australian featherweight champion Eddie Miller in two rounds at Melbourne tonight. Dawson weighed 135, Miller 129.

Dawson's 3 to 1 favorite, hit Miller as he pleased from the opening bell, flooring him once in the first round and three times in the second. The bell saved Miller in the second frame but the referee stopped the one-sided fight.

A crowd estimated at 12,000 booed Dawson because of a series of incidents since his arrival in Melbourne, climaxed by his refusal to permit a broadcast of the fight because radio stations would not pay his demands.

Malden Makes Grid Bow

FIRST PERIOD

Chet Burgess, Malden tackle opened the game with a kickoff to LaSalle's 25, but the visitors could do little with its running game and Malden forced a kick. Leo Carey and Larry Lafreniere did a little gaining on the ground to reach the La Salle 40, but took the ball via a fumble which Joe Gleason recovered for Providence. This ground play ate up most of the period and it went scoreless with neither team even coming close to a score.

La Salle 0, Malden 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Shortly after the period opened Malden's Don Mackey was forced to punt and though John McCauley, La Salle fullback, raced the ball to the 47, a clipping penalty pushed his team back to his 27. At this point the Salles started the best drive of the game, racking up four first downs in succession. John Corelli and John Powers banged at the guards and center, crushing their way to the Malden 12. Then Malden was penalized five yards for having an extra man on the field, putting the ball on the seven with a first down.

Malden's line, aided considerably by Tony Stathopoulos and Ralph Rae, stopped four plunges at the same spot. Joe Powers, Corelli and McCauley making the tries. Later L. S. tried four passes but again failed.

Scores: La Salle 0, Malden 0.

THIRD PERIOD

Malden was in trouble from the very outset when John Corelli recovered a fumble by Malden's Leo Carey on the Tornado 40. Powers and Corelli worked the ball to the one, where a fumble by Powers before he crossed the goal line rolled into the end zone and was grabbed by Ed Saxon for a touchback, saving Malden. Moving the ball out to the 20, Malden went to the air but the first pass was intercepted by John John Norberg. La Salle guard on the 28. Three running plays were stopped but a fourth down pass Corelli to John McCauley reached the one. On the first try, Corelli banged over for the lone score of the period. Jim Mangum blocked Tom Powers placement.

Scores: La Salle 6, Malden 0.

FOURTH PERIOD

Joe Carillo, climaxed a 70-yard march with his second touchdown of the game. Before he banged over from the one-yard line, he had been given plenty of help from Jerry Pins, who went on long jaunts and scored. He scored a touchdown nullified by an offside just before Carillo's tally. McCauley kicked the point.

Final—La Salle 13, Malden 6.

Adm. Byrd Sees Yale in Opener

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Sept. 27 (AP)—Although minus key players due to pre-season training injuries, Yale was a heavy favorite to open its 1947 campaign with a thumping triumph over the Kings Point Merchant Marine Academy in the huge bowl today. Some 15,000 fans, including Adm. Richard E. Byrd and the Marines' Cadet Corps, saw the kickoff. Ideal gridiron weather conditions prevailed.

FIRST PERIOD

Scoring the hard way, Yale grounded out a touchdown after a 71-yard sustained march which required 15 plays and about 12 minutes of punishing line smashes. Fern Naderby, the Blue's fullback, tallied from the half-yard line after sparking the drive. Bill Booe, the Eli's punting specialist, place-kicked the extra point. Kings Point moved into Yale territory, once up to the Blue's 37, but was unable to capitalize.

Scores—Yale 7, Kings Point 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Each team recorded a touchdown in a spirited second period, with Kings Point putting up a stubborn fight against a Blue eleven, heavy with sub. Naderby raced over from the six for Yale's second touchdown early in the quarter shortly after the Mariners were forced to kick from behind their goal line. Then, with the session drawing to a close, two passes, Jim Dooley 1 Dick McGuire, a sub, and Dooley to Ed Michalski covered 83 yards to Yale's six from where Dooley counted. Neither club was able to convert the extra point.

Scores: Yale 13; Kings Point 6.

Salem Team 'On Make' Sight Class A Peak

Forecasting a wide-open race for the Class A grid championship, Coach Glenn O'Brien of Salem High School holds high hopes for his Witches to keep a front-running race with the top teams in the state, if they can get by the stiff Lynn English assignment tomorrow afternoon (2:30) at Bertram Field, Salem.

As O'Brien insists, it's still too early to make predictions but the top division of competition may find its leader a team with at least one defeat this season.

And if his Witches, still "on the make," can gain some necessary game experience while racking up victory No. 2 in this Sabbath test, they will prove dangerous over the remainder of the schedule. Salem was sluggish in winning from Newburyport but they're rounding to the quality of play subscribed by O'Brien. If they hit their peak early, they'll have a chance to slip into the top bracketing.

Salem's hopes swayed early in their practice sessions when co-Capt. Bob Jalbert suffered a shoulder injury that apparently will keep him on the sidelines for the remainder of the season. But a trio of veterans from last fall — co-Captain Bob Shea, Dick DeLande and Bob Courtney — have taken over the burden of the offensive.

With help from Jim Ryan and Sam Cronis, filling in for the injured Jalbert, and Dom Marfaglia, the tricky O'Brien attack should function. Then, too, center Jerry Nelzer will be seeing some duty on the offensive as a halfback, paying the way for veteran Dick Ouellette at the pivot post.

The pair shared first string rating last year at this spot. Only two other veterans will be back in the line — tackle Bernie Meyer and end Ray Jarryn — "as soon as an end as they'll be in schoolboy ranks this season." A lot will depend on how well the other boys will fill in the line; such as Dick Phillips or Al Moses on a wing, John Jennings, Norman Ouellette as a halfback at the guards, and Charlie Tra'ner and Dick Gordon, a sophomore, at the other guard.

The drawing power of school-boys "on Sundays can never be denied." The English-Salem match will bring 35,000 to the Salem field. Then, there'll be close to 10,000 crowds at Lowell for the Peabody game; at Lawrence for the Manchester Central battle and at the Memorial Stadium, Chelsea, for the Chelsea-Reverse rivalry. . . all four games should be top attractions.

Lowell might well break its lengthy losing spree against the highly touted Tanners. . . Coach Ray Kiddick has his boys working with a spirit that has been hidden for years — they're tackling with a vengeance in a comeback that's bound to break their spell. Saturday's program had its share of outstanding games. . . interest centered on the Brookline invasion of Quincy where a winning streak of 17-straight games was to be put at stake by the Wealthy Towners.

Safety Hunting Drive On in Maine

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 27 (INS) — Maine opened today a campaign to make the state the safest one in which to hunt.

Schools, radio stations and newspapers began displaying and broadcasting "ten commandments of hunting safety." They follow:

- 1.—Treat every gun with the respect due to a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety.
- 2.—Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your automobile, camp and home.
- 3.—Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.
- 4.—Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle even if you stumble.
- 5.—Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
- 6.—Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.
- 7.—Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first.
- 8.—Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun.
- 9.—Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water.
- 10.—No mix gunpowder and alcohol.
